Utsunomiya Castle Ruins (Park)

Currently open to the public as a castle park, Utsunomiya Castle was once counted as one of the seven great castles of the Kanto region before being destroyed during the Boshin War. The park includes a museum and the restored "Seimei-Dai" building, offering a chance to learn more about the history of Utsunomiya Castle.

Nikko Toshogu

The extravagant beauty of Nikko Toshogu is overwhelming. The shrine, where Ieyasu Tokugawa is enshrined, comprises fifty-five buildings, eight of which are considered national treasures, and thirty-four of which are considered important cultural properties. Some other famous sights include the sculpture of the three monkeys embodying the proverbial principal of "seeing no evil, hearing no evil, speaking no evil," and the "Nemuri-neko" (sleeping cat) sculpture.
